ALIGN for SUCCESS.

BTC is looking for an early-career PR professional with strong writing and media relations skills. You'll monitor industry news, craft press material, draft byline articles and digital content, and proactively identify opportunities to pitch media. Agency experience, even as an intern, is preferred but not necessary...if you are motivated and ready to grow in your career. You will work directly with an agency principal serving a variety of business-to-business and consumer-focused clients. Hierarchy and layers are not our thing. You'll learn every day and have the opportunity to interact with clients directly. In short, you will get as much responsibility as you demonstrate you can handle. WFH on a part-time basis is encouraged.
